4 DISTRICT OF NEVADA

5 * * *
6 ROBIN PROCTOR,

Case No. 2:22-cv-00684-MMD-EJY

7 Petitioner,

ORDER

8 v.

9 WARDEN NAJERA, et al.,

10 Respondents.

11
12 In her pro se 28 U.S.C. § 2254 habeas corpus petition, Robin Proctor challenges
13 her Clark County, Nevada conviction under a guilty plea of murder with use of a deadly
14 weapon. (ECF No. 5.) Respondents have moved to dismiss the petition as untimely and 15 containing claims that are unexhausted, procedurally defaulted, and noncognizable. (ECF 16 No. 16.) The Court has granted Proctor lengthy extensions to oppose the motion to 17 dismiss. (ECF Nos. 25, 28.) Proctor then filed three separate responses to the motion to 18 dismiss. (ECF Nos. 26, 27, 29.) Respondents replied in support of their motion. (ECF No.
19 31.) Proctor then filed a sur-reply. (ECF No. 33.) Proctor has also filed a motion for 20 medical records, a motion to subpoena mental health records, and another motion for 21 extension of time. (ECF Nos. 30, 32, 34.) In the two motions for medical records, Proctor
22 simply asks for the release of all of her medical and mental health records, with no
23 explanation or elaboration whatsoever. These vague, unsupported motions are denied.
24 Further, Proctor has had—and taken advantage of—ample opportunity to respond to 25 Respondents' motion to dismiss. The Court therefore denies her most recent motion for 26 extension of time. The motion to dismiss stands briefed and ready for disposition by the 27 Court in the ordinary course.

28

1 It is therefore ordered that Petitioner's motion for medical records to be released
2 (ECF No. 30), motion for enlargement of time to research case (ECF No. 32), and motion
3 to subpoena mental health records (ECF No. 34) are denied.

4 DATED THIS 30th Day of August 2023.
